BANYAN VENTURES INVESTS IN INTERMOUNTAIN NUTRITION

Banyan to help Provo-based supplement manufacturer manage rapid growth.

SALT LAKE CITY, MARCH 2016—Banyan Ventures, a professional venture-building firm in Salt Lake City, has made a new investment in Intermountain Nutrition, a supplement manufacturer in Provo, Utah.

Intermountain Nutrition manufactures nutrition supplements, including vitamins, protein powders, and herbal extracts. The company is known for high quality and short lead times. Products are developed and manufactured under the direction of a team of professionals with decades of experience. All production takes place in Intermountain Nutrition's own FDA-registered and GMP-certified manufacturing facility.

"Intermountain Nutrition has grown so fast over the past three years that we have had to move facilities four times," says Ryan Gledhill, CEO of Intermountain Nutrition. "We plan to capitalize on Banyan's experience and expertise to manage this growth while building our company in a competitive marketplace."

Banyan will provide Intermountain Nutrition with growth capital to expand into a new facility, purchase new equipment, and broaden its product offerings. Banyan Managing Director Tim Barney will be actively involved with corporate development, consulting the Intermountain Nutrition leadership team on strategies to scale business operations and facilitate growth. Barney will also serve on the company's Board of Directors.
